“ Brandon & I met 15 years ago, became closer when he moved to Cali to run Assanti. We enjoyed baseball games, and always enjoyed the convos over the phone. He was always in a good mood, and enjoyed his jokes. Fast forward to the years in Atlanta, he would always help and be there when needed. I will truly miss him, and talking about life & sports. RIP my friend!!

“ Brandon and I became friends back in 2000. At the time we were both working at Direct Line and I went to Atlanta to help him and Kenny Walton set up their new warehouse. Brandon and I instantly hit it off....so much so he invited me to start coming up and staying with him. My wife, Brandi, and I returned the favor and would host him in Jacksonville, FL. Needless to say, we burned the midnight oil a few times while attending a Florida/Georgia game a time or two or just hanging at the beach. When he left Direct Line for Wheel Pros, he always stayed in my ear encouraging me to make the move too. He was as much a confidant as a cheerleader and when I finally made the move it was a given, I would train in Atlanta with him. That was seven years ago this month. Three weeks ago, he and I sat by ourselves while attending our annual manager's meeting in Colorado. We talked like all good friends do about business, cars of course, our families and our love for them, the recent loss of my mother, as well as our respective futures and what we hoped they held. Never would I think that would be the last time I'd see, hug, and speak to him. Brandon's laugh was infectious and genuine as was his honesty, which I greatly appreciated. Wonderful traits to have in a friend and I will truly miss him. Love and miss ya, BB!

“ Brandon was a great friend and mentor. Seems like it was just yesterday we opened the Wheel Pros location in Richmond, VA together. I will miss him and the conversations we would have about life and family and how quickly time goes by. I will miss you my bro!!!
