“ I've known Carol for over 40 years. She was my next-door neighbor, we shared music when she played the organ and I the piano, and her son Mark is like a son to me as he grew up with my children. But my most cherished memory is the day God strongly impressed upon me to go visit Carol and pray God's peace over her. I whispered in her ear and she held my hand though she didn't open her eyes. I played Amazing Grace and When we all get to Heaven on her keyboard beside her, kissed her goodbye, and left in tears knowing it would probably be the last time I'd see her on this earth. Six hours later she crossed over and was finally home with Carlton and her parents and many friends. I'll see her again some glorious day!
