“ I'm having a very difficult time with the fact that you have left the earth mom.. It hurts so much and the feeling in the pit of my stomach won't seem to leave..It's hard knowing I will never hear your voice again, see your face and listen to you speak again.. It's hard remembering the last days of your lufe, knowing your time would be cut short.. It's hard mom.. More than I could ever put into words... More than I ever thought I'd miss and grieve your leaving... I love you mom...Mostly, I pray that you actually heard my last words to you , which were way more important than anyone could ever say to another person..Your daughter Pam Caymol Badgwr

“ Mom... It is so difficult writing this to you ... It is extremely upsetting and sad knowing that I will never speak to you again , visit with you, listen to your voice on the phone and I miss you so very much . This is one of the most hollow empty and sad phases of my life I have ever experienced.. So many memories , and so much to grieve and miss. Most of all I am hoping against all hope that you heard the words I spoke to you on the day before your death.. So much more important than the times I have told you that I loved you and tantamount to Eternity . Miss you , your daughter Pam
