“ I am grateful for the opportunity I had to meet with Cassius Bhai at his home a couple of years ago. I was reminiscing over the conversation that Sahil and I had with him. He was pleasant and hospitable as we chatted together. God used that meeting to inspire us to start Young Pros, a Young Adults ministry that still meets today. I know that Cassius would be glad that God used our meeting to prompt several meetings of ministry to others. I trust that God will take care of his family through this time of grief, just as he showed Cassius Bhai much grace in his life. To Cassius Uncle, Aunty, Sabrina, and Reeanah, we love you all and are praying for you all in Jesus' Name.

*Love,
Rahul, Amaris, and Aleynah*

“ Dear Cassius,

You were so hard on yourself but you did everything you could to not burden the people around you. You loved to have fun and laugh. You never took anything too seriously including yourself. Your light-hearted nature made it really easy to be around you. So many people found you easy going, funny, caring. You were extremely burdened, always trying to be better to be in a place in life that met or exceeded your peers. You were afraid of getting older. You were lucky enough for your music to have reached your idols, The Alchemist and the Big Twins. You were a workaholic.

You loved your family and did everything you could to care for them. You were a nerd who loved Spider-Man, The Godfather, and Dragon Con. It still feels unreal that you're gone to your friends and family. You always had their backs no matter what. You always listened without judgment, always uplifted others. Cassius' you haven't had a birthday party in three years and it's a damn shame we couldn't throw you one this year but lord knows you were too humble to accept anything more than a birthday song. You were one of my best friends. I'm sorry I wasn't there to make sure you made it home safe. The way you always checked on me to make sure I was okay.

You were the most silly, goofy, wanna be new Yorker I've had the pleasure of calling a friend.

People say grief is the price you pay for love.

If Cassius was here to comfort us, he'd say we should live fully, embrace those you love, and breathe laughter into these dark times Most importantly celebrate everyday.

“ In loving memory of a young soul who left us far too soon, we gather here today to pay our respects to Cassius Junior, the beloved son of our dear classmate Cassius Snr. As we come together to honor his memory, we reflect on the beautiful journey of a life that was cut short by a tragic accident, an event beyond anyone's control.

Cassius Junior's presence in our lives was a source of joy and inspiration. Through Cassius Snr's heartfelt Facebook posts, we had the privilege of witnessing the remarkable transformation of a toddler into a responsible and promising young man.

It is a profound sadness that we will never witness the milestones that Cassius Junior would have undoubtedly achieved in this life. But even in the face of this heart-wrenching loss, we find solace in the belief that he has found his eternal rest in the loving arms of the Good Lord above. We can picture him looking down upon us from the heavens, a radiant smile gracing his face, offering us comfort and reassurance.

As we say our goodbyes, let us remember the vibrant spirit and the youthful energy that defined Cassius Junior. His memory will forever linger in our hearts, a reminder of the beauty and fragility of life. May God bless his young soul with everlasting peace and grant strength to his family during this time of immense sorrow.

In Cassius Junior's memory, may we find the strength to cherish every moment, appreciate the beauty of life, and hold our loved ones close, for in the blink of an eye, everything can change.

“ Praying for God’s eternal and divine peace to fill your hearts as you face this difficult time. May the peace of God cover you , and sustain you through this trial. God granted you a precious gift to take care of the last 26 years , and you did a marvelous job , and now Cassius has finished this race early. While it is the most heartbreaking time of saying good night to your dear child, we pray that God will strengthen you to do so.

“ Death is painful; however death taking a precious jewel like you is even more painful to your parents and siblings and all around you. Losing a beloved only son to the cold hands of a reckless driver is gruesome.
But the memories of a wonderful son and brother is blessed.
Some are born great , some achieve greatness, and others have greatness thrust upon them. I feel you were born great and also went ahead to achieve more. Though I haven't met you, I feel like I have known you, that's how your life on earth speaks.
Those we love don't go away, they walk beside us everyday unseen unheard but always near still loved still missed.
My prayers are with you all and your faith in God that's it is His plans. He hath given and He hath taken, is a powerful thinking and that's the comfort and peace in you.
Rest in peace in the bosom of the Lord 🙏

“ Cassius and I rarely saw eye to eye, but he was someone that always had a good energy around him. He was someone who was not only emotionally intelligent, but also practical. He had a way of making you feel welcome where ever you were. RIP Cassius. I hope you're in a better place.

“ Cassius and I met in college, and then by happenstance it turned out we were next door neighbors in my first apartment. Cassius always made me feel like his home was my home, and we were always just a door knock away from each other. Cassius had the most beautiful soul, and had the natural talent of bringing people together. He had an energy of acceptance and cozyness about him, and I can still smell the meals he would cook for us on the depressing cold winter nights. Cassius will always be in my heart, and the hearts of anyone who ever met him. To know him truly was to love him.
