Thank you for sharing the service online. What an amazing tribute. Andi's song and all the stories told me what a loving man he became - frugal, funny, family, and of course rock and roll! Thank you - Roger Merrick

“ I am so saddened to hear of Dr. Yarbrough's passing. He has been my eye doctor for about 30 years. Even though I have been a missionary living in Peru, South America, for most of that time, I have always come back to see Dr. Yarbrough on our US visits. He always sought to give me the best options for my overseas situation, and did everything he could to help. He will be greatly missed!

“ As children, my cousin Kent and I would play together every time my family visited his. He was a year ahead of me in school, so of course I felt he had so much more wisdom than I. He was silly and fun, and did a wonderful Boris Karloff imitation where he would contort his face, say something "scary", then smile and do his characteristic giggle. As an adult, he would tell his young nieces and nephews he was their "favorite Uncle Kentie", as indeed he probably was. When he and Terry had their own child, he seemed as proud and happy as could be. Kent was so many things to so many, too many to recount here. He touched indelibly the hearts of all those blessed to know him. And that is where we will all hold him dearly.
