“ David was my neighbor, in Stone Mtn., Georgia. When I was in college, I was assigned to carry out an interview with someone in a career field that I was interested in. I had an interest in going into the funeral business. David came to our house, and graciously answered all of my questions about the funeral industry. He could not have been more personable, witty and informative. I ended up pursuing a career as a registered nurse, working in the operating room, and absolutely loved it (I'm retired now, at 66). I have never forgotten David's kind, affable demeanor; and, his generosity in taking the time to speak with me that day. God bless you, David. Rest well.
