“ I miss Denis and his spirit, he was such a wit. I loved how he loved Louise Brooks. After 50 years of watching old movies and he introduced me to Louise Brooks! You learn something new every day, especially with Denis. He was so brave, so thoughtful, so delightfully funny. And oh, how he so loved Alice, his cat. Such beautiful pictures he took of her and described her. My wonderful friend, I hope you are finally at peace and painless now. We all miss you but will never forget you.

“ Denis, I admired your courage when you fought for voting rights, fought to tell truth to power. I admired your sense of humor when life so was difficult for you. I admired your artistic and writing talent, and I cheered for you when your teachers told you how good your work was. I was amazed by the stories of your travels in Russia. In the end, your illness was stronger than you, but I'll always remember your strength in the face of adversity.

“ Denis was an online friend of mine with whom I interacted on Salon's forum and other fora for almost 15 years. I remember him as a passionate advocate for human dignity, transparency of government, holding our elected leaders accountable, standing up for what is right, and in general, making this world a better place. Through his posts, I found a friend, someone who could make me think, laugh, contemplate my place in this world, and even make me smile now and then. I am part of an extended online family of which Denis was an integral part. We are feeling his loss and my heart goes out to all his friends and family at this time. Rest in peace, Denis. You did good.
