“ *Our sincerest condolences to the Smith family. Dorsey & Mae have been the BEST neighbors! We have enjoyed our small talks while they sit outside on their front porch. My 2 little dogs LOVE running over there & saying hi. They know when I say "let's go see the neighbors"...they run straight to their house! One & a half years ago when we moved in, Dorsey was out mowing his lawn. We couldn't believe he was still doing it at his age! We only hope to have his energy when we are 90 yrs old! We've watched his health decline but he always made sure to sit outside. Mae & Dorsey are both what southern hospitality is all about. From day one, they both have made us feel welcomed to the neighborhood. We will both miss seeing Dorsey, but we will continue our chit chats with Mae and my little furry dogs will be happy to go visit her and show her some love :) RIP Dorsey, may you look over our neighborhood & Mae!

“ To The Smith Family,
I had the great honor of having Dorsey Smith as my brother-in-law and Mike's Uncle. We could not have asked for a better person to fulfill those roles even if we had tried to design him ourselves. God makes no mistakes and he knew that during our lifetime, that Dorsey would play a pivotal role in both my life as well as my son's life! We will forever be grateful for the love, kindness, understanding, dry sense of humor and leadership he and Mae both have provided to both Mike and myself. He was a larger than life man and we will forever miss him in our lives as well as all those who loved him as much as we do.

“ I was adopted at birth, never knowing anything about my biological family until I was grown and married. The day before I first talked to Dorsey Smith, I had just met my mother's uncle and one of my half-sisters. She had given me the names and telephone numbers of our mother's siblings. About Dorsey, she cautioned me to not let him hurt my feelings, saying that he was rather blunt and matter-of-fact. He was the oldest, so I took a deep breath and dialed the number. He answered the phone and when I told him my name was Jay Braswell, he stopped me...asking if I was Jerry Braswell. Stunned, I replied affirmatively. I heard the phone drop and heard him off in the distance calling for Mae, his wife. When she came to the phone, I told her my name and she asked for the same clarification. She asked where I was calling from. I told her. She asked how quickly I could get there. I told her, and she said they'd be waiting for us. I said all that to say this. While Dorsey Smith spoke plainly, he never, ever hurt my feelings. Mary and I were strangers to them, but nobody could ever ask anyone to be kinder. Before last summer, it had been some time since I'd seen them, but God took care of the details and we were able to visit for a couple of hours. Although Dorsey had experienced some serious health issues, he was as bright as a 300-watt light bulb. It was a good visit and I am very thankful that it happened. To my mind, he lived a full life, and he and Mae both had a very positive impact on my life, and I'm glad I can say I knew him.
