“ I’m sorry that I couldn’t write earlier than now. For some reason I feel that I could have done more for you and that I failed you in that respect.

I’m so heart-broken and I somehow knew that when you were here in July that it would be the last time I saw you. It’s all so sad and unexpected. You said you wanted to come back for Christmas again and it would have been awesome for us as a family and for mom. You are the baby after all.

As I sit and go through all of the pictures of you, I know you were happy for the majority of your life, and that it is a joy for me to think of you like that. I know the last few years were hard on you, but it had appeared that you were heading in the right direction with finally having your hips replaced, and even though you struggled so with your demons, I thought you would be able to pull through.

I will love you and miss you FOREVER, and I hope that if there is a heaven, that you are there with dad & Daniel.

Your big sis, Doreen
