

Jason W. Wrape

February 7, 2016

Jason Wayne Wrape It was just before eight o'clock in the morning; the air was crisp, the sun had just risen on that day of February 7th, 2016, when Jason's long battle with brain cancer finally reached an end. His five year battle to overcome this tremendous giant, finally overtook his body. His will to fight was a testimony to his life and love for his family. His mind and body could now rest. His soul forever in heaven with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Jason's precious spirit inhabited his earthly tabernacle for thirty-nine years, five months, and eleven days. His incredible joy for life was never swayed by the pains of this world. His desire to embrace each day was inspiring to all that knew him. His journey to heaven was peaceful as he passed from this world into the next going there in his sleep, with his family by his side. His body worn and frayed but his spirit and love for his family strong. Jason was always thinking of others. On more than a few occasions, he saved the lives of strangers. Jumping in and providing life assistance at just the right moment. God says there is nothing greater than a man can do than to lay his life down for another; that is what Jason did wherever and whenever he saw where he could. His character was one that those around him couldn't help but admire. He was a pride and joy to his parents and an inspiration to all that knew him. Jason Wayne Wrape was born September 27, 1976. The eldest son of Eric Wayne Wrape and Carol Shirley Wrape. Jason is survived by his wife, Christine Dianne Wrape, with whom he shared 17 years of marriage together and his two precious daughters, Lissa Elaine Wrape and Mckenzie

Christine Wrape. The greatest love and devotion for his wife and daughters was the anchor to his soul. He had two sisters, Felicia Grace Wrape and Fallon Shirley Dininger. His extended family and friends are like the multitude of stars in the sky, each one beautiful and brightly shone light into his life. Additional family members that he leaves behind are; his in-laws, Ron and Laura Coppedge, his sister Fallon's husband, Benjamin James Dininger; his wife Christy's brothers, TJ Coppedge and Justin Kendall and her sisters, Jennifer Kendall and Nikki Viera. Funeral services will be held on Friday, February 12, 2016 at 11:00 a.m. in the Chapel of Flanigan Funeral Home with Rev. Derek Spain officiating. The family will receive friends on Thursday, February 11, 2016 from 3:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. at the funeral home. Flowers will be accepted.

To express condolences, please sign our online guest book at www.flaniganfuneralhome.com. Arrangements by: Junior E. Flanigan, Flanigan Funeral Home and Crematory, Buford, GA (770) 932-1133.

“ I worked with Jason at AT&T/Cingular and he was one of the finest young men I have crossed paths with. I last saw him back in the fall and I knew the cancer had returned. Even though he was walking with a cane, his positive outlook made me hope he could beat this thing. So sorry to hear of his passing, but relieved that his pain is over. It is with a heavy heart I write this.

“ I was not able to go to say farewell to Jason, as I am still recovering from my coma. I did, however, light a candle and put out the two photos I had taken of him in middle school age: 14.)
Jason IS a sweet, gentle soul, and I have no doubt that he is Heaven, watching over his family. The soul lives on, and I know his is without pin or regret.

*"The river is wide, and I can't cross over,
Neither have I the wings to fly,
So get a boat that carries two,
And we shall row, my love and I."*

“ Dear Eric and Carol: I just heard about the passing of your son and wanted to send you and the rest of your family my condolences. It has been many years since I saw you both, but I always knew you to be a tight knit family and know this is devastating. I wanted to let you know that all of you are in my thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

“ I did not know about Jason's passing until yesterday when I read the newspaper. My heart hurts for his wife Christy, his girls, and all of his family. Sometimes we do not understand why God takes one of those we care about so much, but He always has a purpose in what He does. Jason is with Him right now, with no more pain or suffering. We will all continue to miss him sooo much, but let us cherish the memories we all have of him. And, I was one of the lucky ones who got to know him personally.

“ Christy,

My name is Amy and I went to high school and graduated with Jason. He was an amazing friend and had the brightest smile. He was there for me during a very difficult time and my life is better for having known him. My husband and I wish we could have attended his service, but we are out of town. Please know that you and your girls/family are in our prayers and we ask the Lord to comfort you like only He can. We are so very sorry for your loss and I will miss Jason tremendously.

“ We are so sorry for your loss. We will continue to pray for you and the girls as well as all the family. Jason will be missed but I know we will see him again one day. Jason was a great friend to everybody and a hero in my eyes. He showed great love and support to his family and friends. Rest in peace knowing that he is in a much better place than we are. He is running free with no more pain and suffering.

“ To all of Jasons family, we are truly sorry for the loss of Jason. He was and has always been an amazing person. Always willing to lend that smile to a bad day. It breaks our hearts for you (christy) and the girls and to anyone else who loved him. We have been praying for you guys since this started and our prayers wont stop now, when you need comfort the most. I wish there was something we could say or do that would take your pain away but theres nothing that can replace your love and soulmate. His legacy will live on in all of you and especially the girls. You will see glimpses of his smile in them. He will find ways to show you he is always with you. Hes there still loving and looking down on all of you. Try and take comfort in that. His courage and fight was a testimony and inspiration to all of us.

“ Christy,
My heart breaks for you and your girls. There are no words to comfort you, I know. Just know you are in my thoughts and prayers daily. If you need a shoulder, an ear or anything that I can give, all you have to do is let me know. Time will help. Remember how much Jason loved you all and know he is watching over you. He will forever be in your heart. When in doubt, just think what Jason would have wanted for you. I'm sure it was, and always will be, happiness. Love you, Tammy

“ Dear Christy, Lissa, Mckenzie, Eric, Carol, Felicia, Fallon, and all the family, we are heart broken with you that Jason is no longer with us here. While looking at family pictures of you all it is clear that the whole family has been very blessed to have the time together that you did, and part of his legacy are how you as family all lived and now are as people. He is (not was, because he is really very much alive) a wonderful man and is now enjoying the reward of the most joyous kind that is beyond our understanding, but not beyond our recognition. His courage and incredible positive and faithfilled attitude was an amazing witness to where his hope was. As I get older it is very clear that time begins to pass quicker... soon and very soon you will be with him again, and this time it will be without any of the troubles of this life and FOREVER! HEAVEN IS REAL! GOD IS REAL! and Jason is healed like never before! We will continue to love and pray for all of you.

“ Christy and family, our prayers and love are there with you as you walk through this valley. God will strengthen you all in the days to come.

I am a witness that HE (the Lord) does mend broken hearts. I am so sorry for your loss. God really does know what's BEST for us and with that thought in mind, I can imagine your hubby's earthly temple had done all it could on this side. He earned his wings for the journey to Heaven on Sunday morning.

Now he's with the Lord and will be watching over you all. I will continue to lift you and your babies and your entire family in prayer and love.
