“ My precious wonderful, beautiful mother will forever be loved and missed desperately. Half my heart died along with her. I will think of her and long to hear her voice whispering to me that it will be okay. She will forever be the great love of my life.

“ Jeanne was one of my longest long-time friends. I remember sitting with her for hours just talking about life in general. I loved her immensely. I will miss her. She was the loveliest, kindest person I have ever known.

“ I am truly blessed. She came into my life when I first met her through my brother. When he married her she became my sister and friend. I remember being so excited. (The best thing my brother ever did)!!! She will be truly missed. She was beautiful inside and out and made the world a better place for everyone who was lucky enough to have her in their life. God bless you and your family.

“ I will always remember my sister in law as the quiet sweet one. She had the voice of an angel. She would always listen to you if you needed to vent. She was a great caring nurse kind of like Florence Nightingale. I will miss her alot. Connie Pescherine

“ My aunt, Jeanne Heermance, will be remembered for many things, but what she was mostly was love. The sweetest soul with a generous heart. She touched many lives. You could look in her eyes and just see their warmth. Im going to forever miss her smile, laugh, and silly sense of humor. Family gatherings won't be the same without her, but I'm also thankful she is no longer suffering or in pain. Just one more hug or one more smile from you and we'd be that much closer to heaven. I sure love you Aunt Jeannie, you're with me forever.

“ There are no words for what her Nursing colleagues are feeling, the loss is too great. Jeanne lived the Florence Nightingale pledge every day whether she was in uniform or not. It was a privilege to work with her and just be around her. She was compassion, grace, and a light on those really awful days that never seemed to end. She was a magnet that would draw us into her happy. She taught us to swallow the bitterness of our work with a smile and chase it with some sweet confection that she had brought to share. Jeanne never came to work empty handed. We knew if she was on the schedule that we would be treated with cookies or cake or some amazing chocolate candy. The patients absolutely loved her. She never had a cross word no matter how poorly they behaved or spoke. Her tone was always so gentle, kind, and loving. She was so sincere and they felt it and trusted her to give them the best care possible. I can still hear Jeanne's sweet voice saying, "Oh, honey" the way she would when consoling a coworker or a patient. I miss that, and we have all missed her and her amazing smile since she retired. Jeanne was truly a beautiful human being.

Condolences from her Nursing colleagues,

“ My grandmother was the most giving, kind, and loving soul on Earth. She dedicated her life to a career in nursing and making others feel loved and special. No matter when she left this Earth, it would have been far too soon. Her spirit will be sorely missed every single day. She is free and has gained her wings! -Katie (Boogie) <3
