“ She was like a mother to me. Saying that her compassion showed no bound is an understatement. I still remember how she opened her home to me when I had no where else to go. She taught me about make-up, cooking, how to be patient and what a loving family should look like. She had the best laugh. And she never asked me when I was going home or why I never went home. She just always asked me when I was coming back. She made a real difference in my life and the world is going to be a lot emptier without her.
