“ Dear Jessica,
I am so sad that your journey ended so soon. May you find the peace in heaven that you longed for on this earth. You were smart, hard working and very kind. Those whom you loved were loved deeply. Likewise, those who loved you loved you unconditionally. I watched you grow up. You called me "mom". I prayed for you and with you. I will miss you. Fly high beautiful angel. I will think of you often and smile.

“ From the time I saw you take your first breath of life, till you took your last, you always held a special place in my heart. And as much as you were proud as you were to have me as your dad, I was just as proud that you were my daughter! I loved you every day, and tried to tell you that every day, no matter what life threw at us. And when you get your wings, Fly high into the heavens. Remember one day we will walk down those streets of gold, walking hand in hand, talking the way we always did. I love you Jessica..... You will always be my..... Daddy's Girl...A Broken Hearted Dad!

“ Not flesh of my flesh, nor bone of my bone, but still miraculously my own. Never forget for a single minute, you did not grow under my heart but in it. Jessica, I loved you as my own and never wanted to take your mom's place. i just wish we had more time together. I know I might not have always said what you wanted to hear, but I tried my best to teach and guide you to have the best life you could have. You were my bonus daughter that I never had. I love you and miss you. You took a piece of my heart. Love you always Mom

“ I worked with her at Walmart. She was one of the kindest people I've ever met. At the time she was in a battle to get her kids back, and a battle with herself. We were a team of children cheering her on to see her get her children back. I wish nothing more in the world for that to be seen. She was a loving mother, and friend. She cared deeply and wasn't scared to express it towards us. She was one of my favorite people to see walk inside in the mornings, if Jessica was there I knew we were going to do just fine. She will be missed very dearly. The world gained a huge loss in losing you. I wish you would of given this year a chance, love. We'll see you soon, watch over us for now💕💕
