“ JW was a close friend and mentor to me. Lisa commented how likeable he was, and an amazing salesman too. An example was when a customer came in hoping to buy a CD of banjo music and JW sold him a nice banjo and banjo lessons! 🎸
He was a fine Christian man and will be dearly missed.

“ My heartfelt condolences go out to JW's wife and family. We had lots of things in common (we both worked at North Gwinnett High School, served in the US Air Force and were golf partners for a number of years. We laughed aloud together about the looks we received at the golf course in Winder, GA. It was very odd then to see an African American man and a white man share a ride and a golf cart on the course. He always talked about playing guitar in a band. He loved music. I will always remember and cherish our friendship.

JG

I have only fond memories of JW and our time together at NGHS. I found him to be an authentic and caring person who showed tremendous respect to all those in his presence. I particularly enjoyed our annual Veterans Breakfast. My thoughts and prayers to JW's family during this time.

*Sincerely,
John Green*
