“ Kelly had a special love for the elderly. She cared for her mother until the end, and she often stopped by to help me with things that were too hard for me to do alone. Her first words to me would be "What can I do for YOU?" She was a gifted caretaker for both the old and the very young. She worked as a vet assistant as well at one point, and was willing to share her knowledge with us about the habits and needs of our own dog. Oh how she loved her boys! They were the greatest joy of her life! She was a beautiful loving mother till the end and she will love them forever, as they love her. And me? I feel like the Tin Man in the "Wizard of Oz" - " I know I have a heart, because I can feel it breaking". Goodbye dear friend, for now. We will joyfully meet again in the arms of God.

“ The first time I met Kelly was at her wedding to Jason. We had just met and it was her wedding day but she was still so nice to me and made me feel welcome. That was the way Kelly always was when I was around her. Mark worked with James and Jason for years and watched Logan and Landon both grow up and our hearts are breaking for you boys. You are in are prayers.

“ Kelly's life was her boys. I met her when Logan entered my classroom. She was beautiful and gentle, and would light up at the sight of her sons. I remember so many times, I would look up and see her face peeping through the window on the door. All she needed was reassurance that Logan was fine. As the boys got older, I knew she would be found at their ballgames, cheering them on, win or lose. Kelly was that loving mom that every child deserved. RIP, beautiful angel.
