“ Visited my Great great grandmother today and stumbled across your grave, I hope you're well in heaven. There's some weeds and the plaquard of your name. Would the family be opposed to me cleaning it up a bit?

“ Ms. Louise Cash was a true friend and a good woman. There were so many memories at Quiet Oaks and though she was not the woman that many people knew from days gone by, she was still the woman that I knew and loved. I remember fighting with her about her candy bars that she would hide all over her room and swear that someone stole them. Each time we would go looking, it was like an easter egg hunt. She will be sorely missed but her glory has been realized as she is finally at rest in her heavenly home.
