“ Tears are a release for the reservoir of pain and sorrow you feel regardless of how strong your faith may be. The cries of the brokenhearted are a testament to the fact that one who loves deeply will weep deeply. Love Always Rose

“ Lee, Ted and Tina,
My sympathy to all of you! Mary was a special person to many people. Those of us who knew her as a parent were aware of the love for family she always manifested.

She was such a great encourager to us at School. She will be missed immensely but we have great memories.

“Mary was a beautiful and special lady who will be greatly missed. As I think of Mary's love of the hummingbirds, the symbolisms seem to be light in the darkness. In some small way may we all find comfort in God's gifts. The hummingbird is known as a messenger. It is a symbol of love, joy, and beauty. The hummingbird is able to fly backwards, teaching us that we can look back on our past. But, this bird also teaches that we must not dwell on our past; we need to move forward. When the hummingbird hovers over flowers while drinking nectar, we learn that we should savour each moment, and appreciate the things we love. The hummingbird is the creature that opens the heart. When the hurt that caused us to close our hearts gets a chance to heal, our hearts are free to open again. With hummingbird consciousness, we learn the truth of beauty. Our life becomes a wonderland of delights in flowers, aromas and tastes. We laugh and enjoy creation, we appreciate the magic of the present moment, and the magic of being alive.

The fluttering wings of the hummingbird move in the pattern of an infinity symbol - further solidifying their symbolism of eternity, continuity, and infinity. By observing the hummingbird, we see they are seemingly tireless. Always actively seeking the sweetest nectar, they remind us to forever seek out the good in life and the beauty in each day. Amazing migrators, some hummingbirds are known to wing their way as far as 2000 miles to reach their destination. This quality reminds us to be persistent in the pursuit of our dreams, and adopt the tenacity of the Hummingbird in our lives.
