“ I worked with Michael "virtually" for years and was lucky enough to be able to meet him in person in August of this year, which I am so grateful for. Michael was an incredible, selfless and kind person. His smile was infectious! We are all better for knowing him and will miss him terribly.

“ I never met him in person, only through work zoom calls. Michael always knew what to say, and was never scared to speak up. No matter what task was at hand he somehow seemed to be poised and assured the team everything would eventually work out. My condolences to friends and family. Michael will be missed 🙏👐

“ Our hearts are broken and we can't make any sense out of your passing right now. We hope that with time though, the pain and sadness will give way to focusing on the happy moments we shared. As brother and sister, I want so much to look back upon all those funny, crazy times we had while growing up without shedding tears. You are already being missed by those of us left behind, but we do take comfort that you and dad will soon be together and surrounded by other family members there at St. Charles. Rest in peace Michael. With deep sadness and much love, Janet💔
