

Pamela Coverdale Haarmann

December 18, 2012

Pamela Coverdale Haarmann of Gainesville passed away peacefully on December 18, 2012 at the wonderful age of 91. She was born Pamela Susannah Coverdale in Coventry, England on May 31, 1921. As a World War II bride of America born Frederick Haarmann, she would later come to America following the end of the war, via the Queen Mary ship. Proudly, the couple settled in America and would raise their two children in Holyoke, Massachusetts.

Pamela Susannah Coverdale Haarmann was a proud English citizen until the time of her death. She survived a war and was armed with stories of life and survival that will be passed among the generations. Pamela prided herself on the work she did in the Emergency Department in Holyoke. Later in life, upon moving to Georgia, she took joy in helping to raise her grandchildren. Her life is remembered with passion and persistence and as a matriarch to the small but close knit family.

Pamela was preceded in death by the love of her life, Frederick "Ferdie" Haarmann. Pamela is survived by a son, Steven Haarmann and his wife Patricia, a daughter Betsy Haarmann Greelis and her husband Michael, a daughter-in-law Ann Haarmann, three grandchildren Sarah Haarmann McKinney and her husband John, Susannah Coverdale Haarmann and Jessica Susannah Greelis as well as two great-grandchildren, Nathan Shawn McKinney and Anna Rebecca McKinney.
