“ As I approach my 13th sober birthday, I was thinking of all the people I got sober with. Peter was at my sober living and we lived together back in 2013. We enjoyed music together and we shared our struggles at 8111. It really hurt my heart to find out only a few months ago he was gone for some years now. This world can be very cruel, unforgiving, and dark but there is still a lot of light left. I appreciate the time together and may God rest your soul, Peter. - Ralph

“ I am very late. I wanted to check in on an old friend, and seeing that he has been gone for four years now is devastating. What attracted me to Peter the most was his perseverance and drive. From the very first time I saw this dude, I was hooked on him; he was so captivating and intriguing. I was in two of his classes at Florida State College in Jacksonville, FL, and I knew he had a story to tell; he was a survivor. He was passionate about helping save lives with the Gift of Life, Bone Marrow Registry. I had the pleasure of helping him with Gift of Life from FSCJ to when we both went to the University of Florida. I was there when he found Christ and got baptized. I was so proud of him. I should have told him how great he was and how much he had influenced my life. I wish I had stayed in touch. I will always cherish the time I was able to spend with him. Peter Daniel Kovach, I love you. You were a great friend, a wonderful, outstanding guy, and will always be loved.

“ Still hard to believe he's not with us here. Praying for family and friends grieving their loss of him this anniversary. God is faithful to visit all who call upon Him in faith.

“ Peter was my best friend growing up. So much so that our moms made sure we were in separate classes growing up. I still remember throwing popcorn at Theresa with him and promptly getting taken home. We were joined at the hip always getting into mischief. Although we grew apart, we walked parallel lives. When he went to college I was still struggling with sobriety and mental health hoping and praying I would gain what he had. He was a huge inspiration to me whether he knew it or not. Peter, you will always have a special place in my heart buddy.

“ I remember a lot. But i especially remember us always poking fun at each other! I’m sure everyone else does too. I’m watching a home video where I was so sad I couldn’t get on the bus with Peter on his first day of school, where he joined Ben and Corinna. When I finally got on, we spent a couple years in elementary school together. On the bus, I would always call him “Pee-ar-tar!” He hated that, so I did it more. Then he started calling me “Tree-ee-sa” which I thought wasn’t as good as mine. Anyway, we’ve been Tree-ee-sa and Pee-ar-tar ever since. I love and miss him so much.

“ I’ve been reminiscing on the memories I have with Peter. We’ve had so many but one weekend, in particular, stands out to me. It was winter, Peter and I spent two days going for hikes through parks, the Indian seats hopped up on pre workout and coffee. We got up on a Sunday morning at 5 am and went to Starbucks. We talked about so much that weekend. Peter had so much wisdom to share, he went through so many obstacles and came out so strong so many times. I remember sitting in class texting pages and pages back and forth to Peter about everything from music to mental health. Peter really impacted my life in so many ways. It seemed simple at the time, but he introduced me to my favorite band “Sixx Am”. The first song he had me listen to was skin by sixx am and I got those lyrics tattooed on me. Ever since, sixx am has always reminded me of Peter. He didn’t lose his battle. He spent so many years winning and being strong, I have to believe that he is with God where he is promised peace that he longed for, for eternity. My prayers are with his family in this tough time.

I love you, Peter Kovach. I’m forever thankful for our friendship and our memories.

“ Lord there are so many memories with Peter, there is no way I could make a dent in our time together on here. Peter has always been my closest friend and to me, he was my big brother. By every means Peter has made the largest impact on my life and we were talking about that before he left us to play music with the angels. We were over the phone but hearing me tell him about the impact he's made on my life and that I love him had his voice cracking like he was about to cry. Peter saved my life, helped me get sober, guided me to Christ, convinced me to break my comfort zone, taught me so much about fitness, Peter was my other half. One thing we used to always, I mean always say, "we're the same person" life changed up a bit for the both of us but for about 9-10 years out of the nearly 13 we were best friends. I remember the day we met. We were in our sophomore science class and you were asleep. I notice the guy behind you was putting inappropriate things on your book bag and you didn't notice. We were walking to the bus and I noticed people were pointing and laughing so I ran up and got everything off his bag. Then we got on the bus, shared earphones to listen to Eminem and from that day, we were absolutely inseparable. We'd be together every day, spend hours on the phone talking about life or writing songs together every night. Peter I love you man and you've made me the person I am today. I'll forever be grateful for you and cherish our memories together. There is a very large part of me that you have always held and no one else will be able to have. Life will never be the same without you but I'm sure you're standing beside me right now saying "dude get off your phone and let's go do something." You'll forever be missed, I love you and your (our) family more than I could ever dream to put into word. I'm going to finish this with another I love you Peter. It's not goodbye, it's good by for now
