“ Knowing from experience the unimaginable pain of losing a child—my firstborn—my heart grieves deeply for your family. There is no pain greater, and no answers to the "why" that can ease the weight of such a loss. I pray that love surrounds you, that memories bring some measure of comfort, and that you feel the strength of every prayer being lifted for you in this heartbreaking time.

To the father, whose arms feel empty and heart feels broken—may God hold you in the hollow of His hand. May He give you the strength to breathe through the silence, and the courage to keep going when everything feels lost. You are not alone in your grief. 💔
