“ I want whomever may stop by my husband's tribute page to know, I loved him so very much and my heart aches without him. He's not in pain anymore and that eases some of the pain. I watched this man change into a beautiful man of God. I will always cherish our love, time and memories. Never will he be forgotten by me.

Roger loved his great granddaughter and always thought of Robert and Nicole as his own. He never spoke the word "step" when referring to them. He was so proud to be a great grandfather.

“Connie, I am sorry your loss. I know the last few years have been rough. You both handled it with bravery and strength.

I don't know if you remember the first time I met him, he worked on my car in your driveway. I always thought that was really a nice thing to do for a stranger.

My favorite thing about Roger was his genuine love for animals. If they were hurting, he was hurting too. So sweet.

Roger loved you, and was thankful for everything you did for him.

Love, Cindy
