“ *Barb, First blessings to you and your family. It seems like a couple of years since I last talked to Ron. The fog of age, illness and time seems to make my time and memory speed fast. What a man. A great personality, and a great Christian, father and friend to many of us who knew him in business. He always brightened the office when he dropped in to hire someone or just to renew friendships. We even went fishing once when you lived on Glen Echo. Active Ron, sedentary Art, stuck in a 14 foot boat trolling. It must have felt like being in a floating jail for him! I asked him several times later on if he wanted to go again. He always responded with a no thanks. We discussed food and German summer sausage one time. I mentioned a butcher I knew in Saginaw. Next thing, you guessed it, he shows up with a 18-24 inch sausage from that butcher in Saginaw. He was working the area, checked it out, the sausage passed his inspection and he brought me a favorite treat for my family. He always did that whenever he was in that area. He would call me, I would order my supply and this continued for years. What a guy. A bright light in a world that needs all the light we can get. Again God's blessing to you Barb and your family.
