“ Hard to believe it's been almost six years since I've talked to you. We had so many good times together! And while you were off sailing and soldiering, I missed you being around. My heart is missing you right now. Till I see you again...love you, Mom

“ I miss you so much, Chris.....your smile, your jokes, your loyalty to friends and family. I hope you are spending time with your sister! She loved you so. When the Braves won the World Series last week, I could imagine a smile across your face. I know you would have been in that crowd at the stadium, going wild with pride. Wish you had been here to see it. I love you....fair winds and following seas..Love, MOM

“ My sweet little blue eyed boy.....the memories I have of you are such sweet ones. You had the most shy loving demeanor and heart. Every day I see something that reminds me of your quirky humor and can just imagine you walking into a room and making jokes. But what I remember most, is the love you had for your family. You always picked out the perfect gift for everyone and were so proud of that. I am so proud, too, to say that you served your country. I know you missed the Navy and wanted to go back. I can't wait to see you again and goose you in the ribs!! like you used to do to me. I love you, son, with all my heart and miss you always. Keep the ship sailing until I get there!!!

“ We remember Chris and his family so well and enjoyed being their neighbors in Kosciusko. We have thought of you often through the years, and were saddened to hear four years ago that Chris had been diagnosed with cancer. We know he fought a good fight. We enjoyed reading about his accomplishments in his obituary. I (Sarah) will always remember him as a skinny little boy, with happiness on his face and a beautiful smile with gorgeous blue eyes. We will keep the family in our prayers. Sending our love to you all.
