“ There have been so many reminders of you this week. I know it's you letting us know you are okay and having the best reunion right now which brings alot of peace . I have a lot of memories that were not shared. You ALWAYS had a box of jelly bellies and would pick out certain flavors to create the best things ever , the combination for key lime pie , coke float , lemon meringue. I still remember to this day you bringing me 2 or 3 different ones to make the perfect combination, and also visiting Frazier every other week with mom, you would put me in a box on the forklift and lift me up on the shelves in the warehouse and that's where my book nerd self would sit and read . I love you Uncle Steve and there isn't a day that will go by that we won't think or you, but we have so many happy, fun memories to help us get through each day . You are home and reunited with so many loved ones of yours . I can imagine you and Paw-Paw hanging out on a pier fishing right now and catching up having the best time . You are always in our hearts and we can feel happy with the great memories we shared . I love you
