“ What can I say about the guy who captured my heart. My first love, first husband, father of my first born. Though our romance was simply the love of two lonely teens, it lasted a lifetime with various encounters in our 20's and continued as friends after our 30's. I listened to your traumas, as well as hopes and dreams (and gossip, which you loved to share). You always had a place in my heart and me in yours. Be in peace Babe.

“ Growing up I remember my big brother rough housing with us and when something broke he always had us take the blame. Also remember when Steven introduced me to roller skating and the hang outs at the rinks. He was wild on his motorcycles and I looked up to him growing up. You will be missed big brother, love you -Ant
