“ Terry, I will miss you so much. I remember so vividly when we were young and raising our children and lived five minutes from each other, we'd spend so much time together at either house. We were close, our children were close. Long phone conversations late at night. Hilarious card games and trips to the beach, and anywhere else we wanted to go. Moving away was tough, because we couldn't take you and your family with us. Now we've really lost you, and it's a huge and terrible loss. See you again in the hereafter; between now and then please learn better bidding! Your sister Cindy

“ Sweet sister, I'll always remember the fun we had back in the days we were raising our kids together. We practically lived in each others' houses and our families were so close. You were so funny, sweet, and wonderful, and I'll never forget all the hours we talked, and laughed, and just had fun together. You're in a better place now, so try to learn better bridge skills! Love you, as always, Cindy

“ Dear Entzminger Family: Please accept my heartfelt sympathy for your loss. May you find comfort in the words written at John 6:40, where God promises to bring back to life those we have lost in death by means of a resurrection. In the future He will also do away with our enemy, death.(1Corinthians 15:26) This gives us the hope of being reunited with our loved ones forever. Until then I hope the memories of Theresa and these promises from God comfort you in the days to come.
