“Welcome to beautiful Buford Georgia” Uwe would greet his customers. And even year after he retired we would have people asking if Uver (how they called him) is still around. They all say how much he liked to talk and what a crack up he was.

Every time I think of Uwe I remember him saying hugs and kisses. He gave the warmest hugs and made everyone feel important. He would have his tuna and onion for lunch and always had a biscotti hiding somewhere. Buford and King Kong Tools will never be the same without him.

I am sending you hugs and kisses up there! I will miss you!

“ Rest in peace Uwe. The Lord knows we made enough joyful noise and conversation together here.
That smile, his crazy expressions & waving hand, we will miss it all.
Some people call Uwe the neighborhood mayor.
He was our friend and our brother from another mother 🥰.
Enjoyed our joyous time together.
See you again someday Uwe.

“ Hi my friend. I will miss our talks and dog walks when we would run into each other at the lake. Family seemed to be our conversations along with the cats, the dogs and health and wellness and that covid crap. We pretty much saw eye to eye on most views. Will miss your humor and political humor and how we always got fired up on how to fix this country that we'd drop an fbomb or two or three during our chats and then just laugh knowing that was completely out of reach. However if I find a way, you'll be the first to know. 🤞🤞🤞 later Owe! Sharon B.
